OUR MILITARY BUDGET.

THE LAST REBEL BUGBEAR. vell-informed persons here place no con-Adence whatever in the current story that the oligarchy design resorting to a large levy of slaves to serve as soldiers against the Union cause. Doub less they have squads of negroes in arms here and there, but the idea of their trusting an organized army of them anywhere with weapons in their hands, is preposterous; as they know full well that they would surely be turned against them and their cause on the first passing opportunity. Such an act on their part would also be the most speedy and effectual mode of abolishing slaver, throughout the whole South, while it would also be received by the owners of the slaves thus conscripted as deliberate robbery of them, by their own government, of the very property for the better security of which to them, the war was nominally made. Thus, there could be no truth in the story; which, if true, would end the rebellion in double quick time, by the act of the leading rebel conspirators; a feat they have no desire whatever to perform.

MOSHBY. A report came to the Star office last evening, from an apparently authentic source, alleging that Moseby died on Friday night last at a farmhouse near Drainsville, Fairfax county, from the wounds he received in the affair near Anandale on last Tuesday. We doubt the fact, however, because we have information from various sources that he was conveyed across the mountains in a wagon earlier in the week, and was at that time apparently almost at death's door. One of his lieutenants and some of his men, badly wounded, were left behind at or near Drainsville, when his force fled on Tuesday last, and it is probable that the rebel officer who died of his wounds near Drainsville on Friday last, was the ii- utenant above referred to.

REBEL CONSCRIPTING. We have intelligence that 2 rebel General Fort Sumter Demolished - Fort Wagner Gilmer, with some infantry and a portion of White's mounted guerrillas, is just now active of nights in London county. He and his force lie perdu during the day, but scour the country in all directions in their work when the shade of night serves to enable them to prowl around without fear of coming in contact with passing forces of Union troops.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31 .- Richmond papers of a late date have been received here. Buchanan's Secretary of War, Major Gen'l John B. Floyd, died on the 26th of August, at his residence in Abingdon, Virginia.

The Richmond Enquirer of Saturday says "The War Department was in receipt of nothing later from Charleston up to last night. It was understood, however, that Fort Samter. though seriously breached in the walls, would not be abandoned; and that Beauregard had expressed his determination to hold it to the shitter end.' It is thought that this may be done by the exection of temporary fortiff ations. The fire of the enemy continues to be divided between Ports Sumter and Wagner, and the bombardment, up to our latest advices, was progressingly slowly, without any decisive results."

FROM UP THE RIVER. THE REBEL GUERRILLAS RE CROSS WITH BUT LITTLE PLUNDER AND FRW PRISON BRS.

5 O'CLOCK P. M.

The gangs of Rebels who crossed the Potomac at Edwards' Ferry on Thursday night last, consisting of White and Williams' bands, numbering over four hundred, re-crossed the river on Friday, taking with them about nine prisoners of Scott's 900, who were captured at Edwards Ferry. They came over, undoubtedly, to sobble the detachment all up, but only succeeded in taking nine prisoners and getting a few equipments, which had been left in the camp. They made a foray into the county, plundering farms, &c., but succeeded in carry. ing off but little. The boatmen on the canal seem to have suffered the most severely, several teams having been taken from them. All is now quiet in that section, and no apprehension of another raid is telt for the present at least.

PARTICULARS OF THE CAPTURE OF THE BRIG ATLANTIC.

The following communication from Commander Woolsey, conveying particulars of the capture of the Atlantic, was received by the Navy Department this morning : U. S. STBAMBR PEINCESS ROYAL, Of Rio Grande, Mexico, August 13, 1663. - Sir: I respectfully submit the following report of the particulars of the capture of the herman brodite brig Atlantic by this vessel: On the 10th instant Acting Master Charles T. Chase, late in command of the gunboat Antona. which vessel was then getting under way for Galveston, gave me the following information: The brig Atlantic has cotton on board direct from the Texas shore, and the captain of said brig told me that he would swear to the fact, and further said that if a private inter-tage of the U. S. Government. The cause of the captain's strange proceeding was, he says, in consequence of a misunderstanding between him and the parties chartering the vessel. After receiving this information from Acting Master Chase, I waited for the captain of the Atlantic to get on board his vessel, then placed view could be granted it would be to the advan-

guard on board of her. Since then I have obtained the following information through A. A. Paymaster O. H. Stevenson, whom I sent to Matamoras on duty. to whom Captain Lussan (of the brig Atlantic) made the following statement: "I was taken into Key West in this same Atlantic, while bound for this port, by a U.S. vessel, as a prize, and lay there thirty-six days; but I was smart enough to fool the authorities, not withstanding had contraband of war on board. I escaped from there, sued the U. S. Government, and got judgment for the sum of $10,000; then went off and delivered my cargo all right, which carro went into Brownsville, Texas, via Matameras, Mexico." The captain of the said vessel further added: "If you don't look out I will fool you again. I have been in the bustness a long time, having run the blockade during the Russian war; and if you are not very tharp I will get to windward of you again." Mr. Haggart, of New York, now at Matamoras, can testify that the brig Atlantic purchased her cotton in Texas. The U.S. gunbost Cayuga was in sight at the time of the capture. The Atlantic will be sent to New Orleans for adjudication. * * * M. D. Woolsey, Commander. Hon. Secretary of Navy.

NAVAL CAPTURES. The U. S. steamer Bermuda, off Galveston, reports the capture, on the 14th instant, of the British schooner Carmita, loaded with 161 bales of cotton, and bound from Valasca, Texas, to the Balize, Honduras.

The same vessel reports the seizure, under justifiable circumstances, of the British schooner Artist, of Nassau. The seizure was made on the 15th inst, in lat. 28 deg. 18 min. and long. 95 deg. 26 min. west. She was loaded with cigars, liquors, medicines, &c., &c.

From the Richmond Sentinel of the 29th, and Richmond Dispatch of the 26th, we make up the following budget of Southern news: From the Army.

Passengers from Fredericksburg report all quiet along that portion of the Rappahannock. The Central train had not arrived at 6% o'clock last evening, and the Superintendent, without stating the cause of failure, informed persons awaiting its arrival that it would not be in.

With reference to the late capture of the Federal steamers in the Rappanannock the Sentinel says: "It appears from the United States Naval Register that the vessels captured by the gallant Lieut. Wood were rated as follows :- Reliance, screw steamer of 90 tons and one gun, (she had two guns when captured;) Satellite. side-wheel steamer, 217 tons and two guns; Currituck, screw steamer, 193 tons and five guns. They all belonged to the Potomac flotilla. "Lieut. Wood, who commanded the expedition which has proved so successful, is a grandson of Gen. Zachary Taylor."

In another place the Sentinel has the follow-

"Lieut. Wood arrived in this city yesterday. He captured the gunboat Reliance and Satellite and three schooners. The steamers and two of the schooners he secured, but the other schooner drew so much water he could not get her up the river, and was obliged to burn her. The reported capture of the Currituck and Louisiana, unfortunately, proved incorrect." The Enemy Advancing on Richmond from the Peninsula. Information was received here on Thursday evening that the enemy were advancing on Richmond from the direction of New Kent U. H.; and at ten o'clock p. m. a courier arrived with dispatches to Gen. Elzey, stating that the Yankees had driven in our pickets at Bottom's Bridge, fourteen miles from the city. The enemy's force consisted of cavalry, artillery and infantry, while ours was only about 10), placed there for the protection of the bridge. Our men fought bravely as long as they could against such a disproportionate force, but were driven back with the loss of Lieut. Jeter, of South Carolina, who was in command, and ten or fifteen men killed, and a considerable number wounded. Reinforcements were called for, which were sent and yesterday the citizens of Richmond suspending their daily avocations, reported to the proper officers, armed and equipped, for active service in the Bottom's Bridge was not destroyed by the enemy, but is held by our troops. It was reported last evening that the enemy were falling back, and that their numbers had been greatly exaggerated. It was also said the party which advanced to Bottom's Bridge were about 600 cavalry, but that a large torce of infantry and artillery were at New Kent U. H. FURTHER OF THE CAPTURE OF THE GUN. BOATS SATBLLITE AND RELIANCE.- We have the following interesting particulars of this capture from Mr. N. H. Stavey, late Paymaster's Clerk on the Satellite, who was wounded and paroled, and who arrived here last evening on a transport. The attacking party numbered sixty eight men, mostly sailors, belonging to the New Merrimac, at Richmond, with some of Wheat's Battalion, and approached in four boats, each containing about 17 men, the two boats which approached the Satellite, being in command of Col. Wood, an aid, and relative to Jeff Davis, and the two who boarded the Reliance, in charge of Lieut. Hogue, of the Merrimac. Both of these officers, we believe, formerly were attached to our Navy.

At the time of the attack (120 clock Saturday night) it was dark and a heavy sea was run-ning. The assailants were not discovered on the Satellite until nearly to the boat, when the officer ran below to call the executive officer, and by the time he returned the vessel was boarded and the crew were in a fight with the rebels, which lasted some ten or fifteen minutes, during which Thomas Damon, a fireman, and — Lawson, who originally came from the rebel army, were killed, and Ensign R. left arm, and was shot through the neck; N. H. Stavey, Paymaster's Steward, shot in arm; Wm. Bingham, Master-at-arms, Samuel Chin, colored, and two others, slightly. The fight on board the Satellite is represented to have been desperate, and several of the rebels were wounded; but the crews were obliged to give way under the superior number. It is said that the captain of the Satellite (Robinson) behaved in a very cowardly manner when he came on deck in his underclothes. Finding the crew in a desperate hand-to-hand encounter with the rebels, he cried out, "For G-d s sake, don't shoot I surrender !"

The party which boarded the Beliance, Acting Ensign Walters, also were resisted, the officers and men fighting desperately; but were obliged to succumb. In this attack Lieutenant Hogne was either killed or wounded, and Ensign Walters was shot through the stomach the ball coming out at the hip. After Mr. Walters was wounded he crawled into his pilot house and blew his whistle for help, not being aware that the Satellite had been already taken. Mr. McCauly, the engineer of the Reliance, when he found his boat in possession of the rebels, put his engines out of gear, rendering them useless.

After they had captured both boats, the rebels proceeded with them to Urbana, where the officers and crews were set on shore, and they put out with steamers again for the mouth of the river, where they lay all day Sunday, but on Sunday night they went to the Eastern Shore and captured three schooners, one a large coaler, from Philadelphia, which they took up to Urbans, and after burning one of them, took the others with them, as they said, to Port Royal, where they would remove the machinery and destroy the boats.

The prisoners, with the exception of Ensign Walters, Ensign Sommers, Paymaster's Steward W. H. Stavey, and John Tyle, boatswain s mate, were all started to Richmond on Sanday, Uspt. Robinson and his brother being placed in trons; and the above named were allowed to remain at Urbana, where they were paroled by a cavairy officer on Thursday, and on Friday they were brought of by a boat of the Com. Jones, which had landed at the place. The Com. Morris is also in the river. The rebels acknowledged that they had been looking out for these boats for some time, and on two previous occasions had started to

SHOT BY A DETECTIVE .- On Saturday night between 10 and 11 o'clock, as Mr. S. M. Brant, of Colonel Baker's detective force, was on his way home, he was called upon to quell a row in a house on Thirteenth street, near Ohio avenue. He went into the house and found that Edward Ridgeway was the author of the excitement. Brant at once commanded him to be quiet, when Ridgeway demanded the detective's authority for interfering. Brant's badge was promptly exhibited, and the parties having got into the street, Ridgeway dealt Mr. Brant a heavy blow upon the head. Brant replied with a bullet, striking his assailant in the groin and lodging in the thigh. His wound is
